Established in 1981, Resolve Through Sharing® (RTS) is a not-for-profit, evidence-based program that is recognized internationally as the "GOLD STANDARD" for bereavement training, education, and support materials.

RTS has trained more than 50,000 professionals worldwide, and thousands of hospitals provide RTS grief support resources to their patients.

The leaf and teardrop image symbolizes the love and grief that families and loved ones feel when someone dies.

In grief, as in nature, there are cycles and movement. As seasons change, so do feelings. There is winter and spring, sadness and hope.

Resolve Through Sharing is a program of Gundersen Medical Foundation.
The leaf and teardrop and Resolve Through Sharing are registered trademarks of Gundersen Lutheran Medical Foundation, Inc.
RTS perinatal death resources assist physicians, nurses, social workers, chaplains, and other providers when caring for families whose baby dies. They include miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth, and the loss of an infant in the first 28 days of life. The materials are a “must have” for any healthcare system that provides prenatal and delivery services.

Our Perinatal Bereavement Sample Kit will provide you with a close-up view of a variety of products. This preview approach will allow you to see how each product will enhance your ability to create meaningful relationships with and provide helpful information to those for whom you care.

It’s Never Too Early (INTE). Miscarriages occur in many types of healthcare settings. Clinics, emergency and surgical departments, and labor and delivery areas may all encounter families experiencing early pregnancy loss. It’s Never Too Early is an initiative designed to disseminate a standard of care for those experiencing miscarriage.

Look for this INTE symbol throughout the catalog for products that support this initiative.

Ages 6-9

School-age children usually come to terms with death more quickly than younger children. However, they may wish to avoid places or people associated with the death of the loved one. For example, a daughter may begin to participate in activities he or she enjoyed before. There may be mixed emotions—wanting the joy, but fearing another loss. This is normal. It will also help if you include the special day in the many celebrations of your baby’s life. Your children may need some time to process these feelings while adjusting to the new routine.

Parents have also talked about the physical activities are good ways to release intense feelings. Younger children may later treasure these photographs.

A grandmother

Karen’s folks were allowed to come up and they brought the baby out for them to see the first few days as it is in the many circumstances were different. We didn’t do it. But for nine days after he was born the new child. The blanket. I think that was the really hard day.

When Children

When I became pregnant again, we both felt less excited and joyful. Our first pregnancy ended in miscarriage. We were devastated and never knew what the cause was. It was not any mystery. We knew Eric had been poked and stabbed enough. We

When you were a little girl, you probably played house. Sometimes you were the baby. Other times you were the big sister or the mother. Then you grew up. When you started to get really serious about a guy – serious enough to have sex with him – you may have wondered:

- Maybe we will marry and have children.
- How many children should we have?

Maybe you had sex so you would not be the only girl you knew who was still a virgin. Or, you had too much to drink and got carried away.

When Your Child is Dying
Nobody could tell me what death was like and I was afraid to ask. Death, like every child, is individual. Yet a common question unites all those who know that a loved one will die soon: What will death be like? There are often unspoken questions when children are dying. This may be especially true if you've never lost a grandparent or parent. You may never have seen a body without life. With everything seeming to spin out of your control and because the unknown is so frightening, it may help to learn more about what is ahead, including the experiences of other parents. You naturally want to keep your son or daughter from suffering. It's tough because children have such different levels of understanding about what is happening to them.

Sometimes
Memories are like rain showers
Sprinkling down upon you,
Catching you unaware.
And then they are gone,
Leaving you warm and refreshed.

Sometimes
Memories are like thunderstorms
Beating down upon you,
Relentless in their downpour.
And then they will cease,
Leaving you tired and bruised.

Sometimes
Memories are like shadows
Sneaking up behind you,
Following you around.
Then they disappear,
Leaving you sad and confused.

Sometimes
Memories are like comforters
Surrounding you with warmth,
Luxuriously abundant.
And sometimes they stay,
Wrapping you in contentment.

NEW PRODUCT! Pre-Hospital Bereavement Support Folder
RTS 2504-E

This folder is designed for emergency personnel and the bereaved at the scene of a fatal incident. Professional training for emergency responders often does not include a substantive bereavement component. This can leave responders feeling ill-equipped and helpless when supporting survivors in the field.

For a comprehensive protocol, pair with RTS Module 3-Pack (see page 24-25). Learn empathic communication skills, the value of meaning-making, and a framework for “being with” those experiencing traumatic grief.

$14.95 ea

The Pre-Hospital Bereavement Support Folder includes:

Tools for Responders
- A bereavement protocol checklist
- Relationship-based sample scripts designed to increase professionals’ comfort and skill levels

Support Materials for the Bereaved
- With Deepest Sympathy brochure
- With Deepest Sympathy card
- Letter template from responding agency
- When Someone You Love Dies Unexpectedly booklet
- Understanding Grief Brochure
- Resource Booklet

To read the story of the development of this protocol, go to www.ResolveThroughSharing.org/Prehospital

Consider adding RTS 4139-E
“Understanding Suicide: You are Not Alone” to customize this folder.

See page 17 for more product information.

Why Resolve Through Sharing? RTS works. Healthcare providers want the best possible outcomes for their patients and families, but what does it take to get there? Not only does the bereavement care families receive profoundly impact their perception of your organization, but it also affects the memories of their loved one’s death, and can make the difference between a positive or negative grief journey.

RTS teaches care providers evidence-based, compassion-first approaches to bereavement care. For more information about our training opportunities and how you can bring RTS to your practice, please see pages 24-27.

Whether you’ve completed RTS training or are planning to, our tool kits can give you the resources you need to educate your staff and provide your patients with Resolve Through Sharing’s gold-standard bereavement care.

Training

Are you prepared?

Death is the most anxiety-producing situation caregivers face. They can feel uncomfortable or uncertain when caring for dying patients and their loved ones. As a result, families don’t always receive the highest standard of bereavement care—the kind of care they need and deserve.

Because of uneasiness over caring for the bereaved and dying, caregivers may aim to avoid it altogether; however, that’s not possible. Bereaved individuals will seek services at your organization at different points on their grief journey—they may be grieving a death that happened 10 minutes ago or 10 years ago. Being prepared for these interactions helps providers feel confident that they can make a difference.

We can help

RTS bereavement training offers participants a rich educational experience that increases their knowledge, skills, and comfort levels for providing bereavement care across the lifespan. Participants learn techniques designed to incorporate evidence-based bereavement practices, promote resilience, and reduce fear and uncertainty about what to do and say. Throughout the relationship-based training, participants engage with presenters, other participants of a variety of disciplines, and a family panel of individuals who have experienced the loss of a loved one. After RTS training, over 95% of participants report being more comfortable caring for bereaved families, and having the skills needed to create relationships and communicate effectively with the bereaved.

RTS Bereavement Training:

Perinatal Death

This training is designed to educate providers who care for patients and families whose babies die through miscarriage, ectopic pregnancy, stillbirth, and newborn death. RTS Bereavement Training: Perinatal Death is the only educational offering recommended as preparation for the Hospice and Palliative Credentialing Center’s perinatal loss care certification exam (CPLC).

Neonatal and Pediatric Death

This training is designed to educate providers who care for dying children and families experiencing neonatal or pediatric death. It covers infant and child death as a result of prematurity, serious illness, trauma, complex medical conditions, abuse, suicide, and more.

Adult Death

This training is designed to educate providers who care for dying adults and their families. RTS Bereavement Training: Adult Death focuses on anticipated death, palliative and hospice care, traumatic and unexpected death, and deaths that carry stigma.

Regulatory standards
Did you know the Joint Commission requires bereavement education for staff as part of a standard of end-of-life care? Each RTS Bereavement Training provides participants with the tools to meet The Joint Commission standards for consistent delivery of quality patient care at the end of life. Also, implementing RTS practices and establishing a standardized bereavement program will help you achieve Triple Aim goals by ensuring that care in your organization—in any unit and at every point of entry—will meet the needs of every grieving patient and family.

Partners in success
Are you interested in hosting an RTS Bereavement Training in your organization? The RTS National Office will help you determine a cost-effective delivery option that best meets your bereavement care needs. RTS staff are committed to building a strong partnership with you and ensuring your training event is a success. We provide the presenters and materials, and manage registration and training promotion. We look forward to helping you advance your bereavement program, and we will continue to support your work well into the future.

- RTS Coordinator Training
La Crosse, WI

“Resolve Through Sharing was a fantastic educational opportunity. The content and speaker were engaging, informative, and confident. I would highly recommend Resolve Through Sharing for any hospital system that aims to improve their end-of-life/bereavement care.”
- RTS Bereavement Training: Adult Death
Cleveland, OH

“RTS Coordinator Training
This train-the-trainer program is designed for RTS professionals who have completed one or more RTS Bereavement Training(s) (Perinatal Death, Neonatal and Pediatric Death, or Adult Death) and would like to establish a relationship- and evidence-based bereavement program within their health system. RTS Coordinator Training prepares caregivers to deliver the core RTS Bereavement Trainings and other in-services to staff. Emphasis is placed on change theory, eliciting support, teaching strategies, and leadership skills.

If you are not sure which Resolve Through Sharing course is right for you, RTS staff will help.

“This presentation was thought provoking, and I would recommend it to anyone who is working with families who have a loss. Even if you have been doing the work for years, there is something to be gained.”

Memories Unlimited has provided Memory Boxes and other bereavement support tools for Resolve Through Sharing since 1994. The ‘private label’ purple RTS family of Memory Boxes™, Preshand System™, and Keepsake Impressions Kits™ coordinate with RTS literature and training materials, enhancing recognition of the RTS continuum of care. By working together, we hope to reach more caregivers and educators to provide these professionals with the specific bereavement tools they need to support, comfort, and care for grieving families.

The Preshand (preh-schänd) System was developed to help complete the continuum of bereavement care in a hospital setting by providing a dignified, sensitive, and practical way to manage the presenting and handling of an infant death in a manner that is respectful for the caregiver, the infant, and the family.

The Presentation portion of the system was created to offer parents a comforting memory of their baby cradled in a Presentation Basket, giving a warmer and less clinical last image of their infant in the hospital. The Presentation Basket also offers a gentle setting for taking photos.

The Handling part of the system was created with the staff in mind. The Insert provides a final resting place for baby, and when used with the Handling Carrier, it provides staff with a solution to confidently transport the baby through public areas to the morgue or pathology in a manner that is respectful to both the caregiver, and the baby.

To view a brief demonstration video of the Preshand System, please visit the following web address and type in the case-sensitive username and password:

This comforting and supportive keepsake box was created to help families when a mother dies during her childbearing experience. Includes a brochure, Baby Ring, handprint card, a little fabric bag for a clip of mom’s hair, and space to preserve other mementos for the family. By removing the brochure, it can also be presented to the family when a mother dies as a result of a non-childbearing experience. Offered in English or Spanish, this premium size box has 9½” x 8” x 3½” outer dimensions, and is covered with padded off-white brocade fabric.

Understanding Suicide: You Are Not Alone

In the face of one of life's greatest tragedies, it can be difficult to understand what happened and why. Gauging a death by suicide is often a long and grueling experience. There are no road maps, no single set of steps to guide one's way. Everyone griefs differently; there is no timetable and process unknown.
